Aros Media Business Findings

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- Aros Media generated $200.64 in commission revenue against $1,965.97 in total expenses
- Recorded an operating loss of $1,765.33
- Subscriptions were the largest expense category, accounting for approximately 30.7% of total expenses
- Profitability analysis identifies specifc products, creators, and content styles to investigate for future production decisions

Prioritize high-performing products

- Products such as JOYMODE Ignite Libido Support, IRIS Hormone Health Drink Mix, BetterAlt Shilajit Honey Sticks, tarte CC Color-Correct Tinted Serum, and Beast Bites Creatine Gummies generated the strongest profits and highest ROI.
- Increase content production for these products based on their strong profit and ROI performance.

Increase production for high-performing creators

- Creators with consistently positive ROI should recieve a greater share of production resources.
- Blakely was the only creator with positive ROI; prioritize additional production with this creator while monitoring performance.

Reduce spending on underperforming content styles

- Negative-ROI content styles represent an opportunity to reduce production waste.
- Product Overlay was the only profitable content style; prioritize this format while reducing investment in consistently negative-ROI styles.

Improve posting consistency

- The daily production analysis indicates daily video production was trending upwards and was reduced to 40 videos a day.
- Daily profit was, on average, higher through the periods of upward trending posting volume (6/12 - 6/25) suggesting a potential relationship.
- Consider gradually increasing production volume while monitoring whether additional output continues to improve profitability.

Replicate top performing videos

- The top 10 performing videos by profit generated more than $4 of profit per video, contributing $84.43 in total profit.
- Replicate the characteristics and content styles of these videos in future production.

Evaluate Subscription costs

- Subscriptions account for approximately 31% of total expenses
- Reevaluating these subscriptions to reduce a major expense should be a top priority (Adjusting subscription tiers, switching to different platforms, etc.)